Section 1. Summary of Request

Purpose – The City of Louisville is seeking proposals for the completion of a comprehensive historic resources survey of approximately 100 historic parcels (residential, commercial, and agricultural buildings/complexes) located within the City. Historic resources in Louisville have been identified through several previous survey projects. These efforts have documented a number of significant historic structures, but additional analysis is desired on the City’s under-represented historical subdivisions and building forms, styles, and types.

The City of Louisville, a Certified Local Government (CLG), adopted its first Preservation Master Plan in October 2015. The Preservation Master Plan lists an architectural survey as a near-term action item and recommends implementing the survey in two phases taking place over two years:

1. Phase One: 50 buildings, the majority of which are currently undocumented, and will be primarily residential and commercial resources.
2. Phase Two: 50 buildings, some of which may be currently documented but at a cursory level, to include a mix of residential, commercial, and agricultural resources.

The selected consultant team will be expected to participate in public meetings, conduct research, and develop a final report. Louisville is seeking a consultant with experience in completing historic surveys. The project will be done in accordance with the Secretary of the Interior Standards and the State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO).

Questions regarding the proposal can be directed to:

Section 2. Scope of Work

Step 1 – Meet with City Staff and Historic Preservation Commission to (a) determine a method for identifying the properties that would be appropriate for Phase I of the Survey, (b) identify how the Historic Preservation Commission and public will be involved in the Survey process, and (c) discuss any other questions, comments or final thoughts from City staff, the Historic Preservation Board, and the chosen consultant related to the Survey.

Step 2 - Finalize the properties that will be included in the Survey and the methodology for the Survey, in coordination with City staff and the Historic Preservation Commission.

Step 3 - Notify affected property owners by U.S. mail and hold an initial kick-off meeting with owners, neighbors, City staff, and the Historic Preservation Commission to describe the project timeline, process and intent and address any questions or concerns.

Step 4 – Perform fieldwork, including the compilation of photographs and property sketches, and conduct research on each of the properties identified for the Survey with assistance from City staff. If there are contributing secondary structures located on the chosen properties, they shall be surveyed as well.

Step 5 - Delivery of the final documents to the City for review. The documents will include a final Survey report that meets the Secretary of Interior's Standards and Guidelines for Archaeology and Historic Preservation, available online at https://www.nps.gov/history/local-law/arch_stnds_0.htm and the standards established by History Colorado and detailed in the Colorado Cultural Resources Survey Manual found at <https://www.historycolorado.org/sites/default/files/media/document/2017/1527.pdf> in the number and format described:

- Two hard copy sets and one electronic copy of the Survey Report to the City, including attachments such as OAHP1403 Forms, photographs, and any other additional information collected over the course of the Survey and/or required by the Colorado Cultural Resources Survey Manual.

- A Word version and pdf version of the written portion of the Survey Report should be included with the electronic copy.

Step 6 – Presentations (3) on final findings and conclusions found from the Survey to the Historic Preservation Commission, City Council, and the community.
